tools to help you weather the economic storm and be stronger after recovery

Alabama Council of The American Institute of Architects and the Associated Builders & Contractors of Alabama realize the concerns your company faces with the uncertain economic times. We also know you look to AIA and ABC for guidance and resources to make your business better. With that in mind, our two associations are teaming up for our first annual summer conference.
From a state of the economy address to nationally recognized economist to political climate presentations there is certainly something for everyone.
